Tuesday, October 3rd

Atlantic 2: 8:30 AM - 9:30 AM

How do we look beyond and become better observers? Corrine May Botz will discuss why it is important to edit, evaluate, and closely discuss photographs...to integrate writing into the photographic process. To quote photographer Dorothea Lange, "The camera is an instrument that teaches people how to see without a camera."

Photography helps us to see beneath the surface; it can be used as an analytical tool, as a vehicle to connect with people, and a medium through which to question representation. Looking at photographs we often observe details or elements of a scene that we were not aware of when the image was taken.
