

The AENJ Student Chapter would like to invite you to participate in the Third Annual Student Roundtables at the AENJ Conference in Somerset, NJ on Tuesday Oct. 6, 2009 from 12:30 - 2:30 p.m.

What are Roundtables?

Roundtables are a series of short presentations and discussions at, surprise, a round table, and are presented to small groups of about 5 of your peers. For our purposes, presenters will be giving five 20-minute presentations. These presentations are informative, brief, and fun for the participants, as well as the presenters.

Why present a Roundtable?

Put your methods courses to work. Roundtables are a fantastic opportunity to demonstrate an innovative lesson plan you created, to share the research you have been working on, or to teach other future teachers what you have learned works in or out of the art classroom.

Tips for a Successful Roundtable

- Hands-on presentations are encouraged
- Pairing up with a partner works well especially for first-timers
- Contact vendors in advance for supplies (cheap or free!) in exchange for a little advertising
- Keep it organized...we don't have access to sinks
- You must provide the materials, including laptops (which must run on battery power)
- Plan to present to about 25 people but bring extra.
- Supplying lesson plans is a good idea, but not required
- Though it is an informal presentation, professional dress and conduct is expected

Application Information

Obtain an AENJ Student Roundtable Proposal Form using the email address below or type/print the following:

- Name(s) of presenter(s)
- Contact info: address, telephone, and email
- College/University
- Title of presentation
- A 1-2 line summary of description
- Attach description of presentation of 150 words or less

Application deadline is Friday May 1, 2009

Notice of application acceptance is no later than June 30, 2009

Registration to the conference made through AENJ is required to present your roundtable. Ask your adviser how to register. Discounted student and group rates apply. Membership is from conference to conference.

Send your application by email to Dr. Graziano
graziano@rowan.edu

Please also send any questions concerning your application, roundtables, AENJ Student Chapter membership to the above email address.

NOTE: application deadline has been extended